

PUBLICATIONS

Peer-Reviewed Research Articles:

- 2022 Harrison, F.V. "Refusing the God Trick: Engaging Black Women's Knowledge."
Cultural Anthropology, 37(2)
- Makhulu, A. B. "Citing Black Women: From Citational Refusal to Recognition."
Cultural Anthropology, 37(2)
- Makhulu, A. B. and C. A. Smith. "#CiteBlackWomen." Cultural Anthropology, 37(2)
- Shange, S. "Citation as Ceremony: #SayHerName, #CiteBlackWomen, and the Practice of Reparative Enunciation." Cultural Anthropology, 37(2)
- Smith, C. A. "Citation, Erasure, and Violence: A Memoir." Cultural Anthropology, 37(2)
- Williams, B. C. "Black Feminist Citational Praxis and Disciplinary Belonging." Cultural Anthropology, 37(2)
- 2021 Smith, C. A., E. L. Williams, I. A. Wadud, W. N. L. Pirtle, W. N. L., & The Cite Black Women Collective. "Cite Black Women: A Critical Praxis." Feminist Anthropology, 2(1)
- 2020 Machado, T. & Perry, K. Y. (2020). Translation of "The Black Woman: A Portrait." Feminist Anthropology, 2(1)

Scholarly Blogs:

- 2022 Berger, M. T. "Coining Intersectional Stigma: Historical Erasures and the Future."
American Journal of Public Health blog. (mentioned)

Edited Journal Issues and Colloquy:

- 2022 Cite Black Women Colloquy, Journal of Cultural Anthropology, 37(2)

Media:

- 2022 "New research finds a disturbing pattern of discrimination at the highest levels of stem."

by Doris Elín Urrutia, Inverse, November 22, <https://www.inverse.com/science/poc-women-in-physics>. (mentioned)

“#BlackCitesMatter: Foregrounding a Citational Justice Movement.” by Barbara L. Garcia-Powell and Fred A. Bonner II, Diverse Education, September 21, <https://www.diverseeducation.com/opinion/article/15297041/blackcitesmatter-foregrounding-a-citational-justice-movement>. (mentioned)

“Female scientists don’t get the credit they deserve. A study proves it.” by Julianne McShane, Washington Post, June 2, <https://www.cbc.ca/arts/how-black-artists-use-citational-art-to-build-upon-one-another-s-legacies-1.6329781>. (mentioned)

“The rise of citational justice: how scholars are making references fairer.” by Diana Kwon, Nature, March 22, <https://www.nature.com/articles/d41586-022-00793-1>

“How Black artists use citational art to build upon one another's legacies.” by Jamilah Malika Abu-Bakara, CBC, February 1, <https://www.cbc.ca/arts/how-black-artists-use-citational-art-to-build-upon-one-another-s-legacies-1.6329781>. (mentioned)

2021

“Uzo Aduba to Host Netflix Book Club.” by Keyaira Boone, Essence, October 18, <https://www.essence.com/entertainment/uzo-aduba-netflix-book-club/>. (mentioned)

“The Erasure of Black Women’s Contributions: From Past to Present.” by Janice Gassam Asare, Forbes, October 8, <https://www.forbes.com/sites/janicegassam/2021/10/08/the-erasure-of-black-womens-contributions-from-past-to-present/?sh=319142ca3fd8>. (mentioned)

“A Disturbing Pattern.” by 12 Women Scholars, Inside Higher Ed, August 27, <https://www.insidehighered.com/advice/2021/08/27/entrenched-inequity-not-appropriately-citing-scholarship-women-and-people-color>. (mentioned)

“‘60 minutes’ ran an episode about algorithm bias. Only White experts were given airtime.” by Julianne McShane, The Lily, June 1, <https://www.thelily.com/60-minutes-ran-an-episode-about-algorithm-bias-only-white-experts-were-given-airtime/>. (mentioned)

2020

“Why we should cite black women.” by Sera Smith, The Daily Californian, October 27, <https://www.dailycal.org/2020/10/27/did-you-cite-a-black-woman-today-why-we-should-cite-black-women>.

“#BlackInAstro: How Can We Support Black Astronomers?” by Astrobites, Astrobites, June 3, <https://astrobites.org/2020/06/03/how-can-we-support-black-astronomers/>. (mentioned)

- 2019 “Cite Black Women S1: E9: Centering and Celebrating Black Women in Sociology.” by Mark Anthony Neal, NewBlackMan (in Exile), August 28, <https://www.newblackmaninexile.net/2019/08/cite-black-women-s1e9-centering-and.html>“Cite Black Women S1: E9: Centering and Celebrating Black Women in Sociology.” NewBlackMan (in Exile). August 28, 2019.
- “For your listening pleasure: 15 podcasts produced for and by young, bold, and multitalented Black women.” by Jaimee A. Swift, The Grio, April 17, <https://thegrio.com/2019/04/17/15-podcasts-for-black-women/>. (mentioned)
- 2018 “‘Cite Black Women’ campaign gains momentum.” by Sophie Inge, Times Higher Education, January 22, <https://www.timeshighereducation.com/news/cite-black-women-campaign-gains-momentum>.